TAX ASSOCIATING PRACTICE.

London—Conditions in the disturbed districts around Calicut, British India, are shown to be of considerable gravity in an official statement issued at the India office here.

This statement, based on a telegram from Madras, which was filed in that city early Friday, says a mob of 2,000 fanatic natives attacked

The revolt in India has been smoldering for many months. It began shortly after the armistice with propaganda from the Bolsheviks. One man, Ghanti, has been preaching the doctrine of India for the Indian and began the revolution by what is called "non-cooperation." It was a boycott of everything English. It was given to Indians to encourage them to extend economic and governmental functions of the British-Indian government. Then there has been the boycott of English goods. Recent activities of the Greeks against the Turks and the possible end to the Sultan's government with consequent loss of power to the Moslem Mohammedans has caused the Moslem Indian and foreigners from India residing in the Gazette on Friday, the Mohammedans are leading the actual fighting. What wide-reaching results may come from the revolt is hard to foresee.

The police in the town of Tirur and later clashed with the Lancer platoon, which dispersed the rioters with guns.

The cruiser Canopus arrived at Calicut Friday and the situation in that city is said to be quiet. Further south and east, however, there have been a number of serious fights.

PLAN PUNISHMENT FOR PERSONS RESPONSIBLE

London—Owing to the serious character of the rioting in the Malabar district of British India and the possibility of a general spread of the disorders, the Daily Telegraph Saturday says it understands that the government of India, with the concurrence of Edward Spencer Montagu, secretary of state for India, has decided to take action "against the prominent persons held responsible for the present part of the revolts."

It is felt says the newspaper that the limit of patience has been reached by the Indian government.

It is understood, it adds, that the authorities are fully prepared for fresh efforts to quell disorders should the preventive action now being taken, not meet with success.

LOOTING CONTINUES IN SOUTHERN INDIA

Bombay—Looting by riotous natives in southern India still continues according to a message from Calicut.

A band of fanatics is reported to have stolen an estate at Fullongode which a European named Eaton was surprised in his bungalow and beaten. The bungalow then was burned. Eaton's wife had left the estate.

It is also reported than an inspection of special reserve police was murdered by Nopan rebels. His body was thrown into the river.

One Dead, Many Hurt in Blast That Rocks City

Providence, R. I.—One man was killed, another was severely injured and scores of persons were slightly hurt when the plant of the United Radio Signal company was destroyed by an explosion in its plant Saturday. The other factories were shattered. This city was rocked by the explosion.

The Modern Way

Mrs. E. J. Gokee, 221 Graeme street, had three light housekeeping rooms for rent. Instead of placing a sign in her window and waiting for people to come and read it, she placed an ad where home seekers look for a place to live. The Gazette Want Ads page was the place. There are scores of people watching the Want Ads to find a better place to live. The place that YOU have to offer is just the place that some body wants. Mrs. Gokee ran this ad three times and had no difficulty in renting the rooms.

TRADE SCHOOL TO HAVE MORE PUPILS

Dorrans Sees Heavier Enrollment Under New Law—Faculty Is Hired.

A large number of inquiries have been received by Supt. M. Dorrans, as to who must attend the vocational schools, most of them having come from employers of child labor, a misunderstanding having arisen due to the changes made in the law at the last session of the legislature.

All boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 not graduates of high school and who are not attending any other public or parochial school must attend the vocational school, Mr. Dorrans says. Boys and girls must attend during the eighth grade or attend school nine years, not including kindergarten before they may leave school or secure a permit to work.

Look Ahead Here

The new law calls for the attendance of half time at school between the ages of 14 and 18 years. This means a half day each day," said Mr. Dorrans. "However, as I see our situation now, it will be impossible because of the lack of space, for us to take care of this extra class of one-half day students and add the vocational department, all permit us to carry classes as long as for another year at least, it will be necessary for us to continue the eight hours attendance at school between the ages of 14 and 18 as last year, only extending the age limit to 18 as required by the new law."

Permits to work are necessary for children up until their 17th birthday but are not necessary beyond this age. The hours of labor to the age over 17 are not regulated by permit.

However, in the majority of the employments to see that the student attends school although he may have no permit between 17 and 18 years.

All Day Classes

In addition to part time classes, all day classes have been offered for the past two years and will be offered again this year for boys and girls. Last year many were promoted from these classes to the high school and high school credit was given some for the work done in the vocational school.

For the best interest of everyone involved it would be best, states Mr. Dorrans, for the children between the ages of 17 and 18 who come under this law to consult him before the opening of school.

Seven on Faculty

The faculty for the vocational school will be as follows: J. M. Dorrans, director and supervisor of manual training; Miss Margaret Youngelause, girl's academic work; Fred A. Wright, machine shop, drafting and forgings; Miss Sophie Cronin, bookkeeping; Harvey Goss, auto mechanics and woodworking; Miss Alice Sutton, commercial; and Simon Treff, boys' academic and science.

Night School Oct. 4

The night school will open Oct. 4. The night school opens Sept. 6, with the rest of the public schools.

The State Vocational board is charged with carrying out the new law with respect to the rehabilitation of those disabled by accident or industry and in returning them again to civil employment and full earning power. The state board may perhaps take vocational or tutorial instruction, or any phase of instruction that will enable the individual to return to civil employment qualified to make a living. This instruction may be in a new field entirely, or it may be in the field that the individual is already familiar with. The state board may also supply artificial limbs. The local vocational school will cooperate with the state board in this work.

Organized Into Units

A new organization of the work of the school this year will be the organization of all work into units, with certificates granted at the end of the year for the number of units accomplished. In this way the work will be more intensive and will permit closer individual instruction.

A good many people do not really appreciate the wide scope of the work of the vocational school. That may be called the main argument desiring to have the law of age of work within its scope. The field of the vocational school is undoubtedly large because it recognizes no age limit beyond 14 years. The school, of course, is not permitted to take any students under 14 years of age.

HALF OF TOWNSHIP ASSESSMENTS FILED

Less than half of the township assessors have turned in their new assessments to the County Clerk, Howard W. Lee, and Assessor of Incomes F. A. Taylor, supervisor of assessments. Many more are expected to be received next week. There may be a slight decrease in the total assessed valuation of the county this year, it is believed, although it is possible the figures will be about the same as last year.

Rural School Teachers Must Be Well Grounded in Practical Subjects

briefly the substance of the "Teachers' Pension Fund" law.

Fundamentals of Health.

Health work in the rural schools is one of the most prominent activities being carried on today. The county nurse, Miss Anna Luetzsch, is doing extensive work in every country school in the county. Teachers are asked the following questions on physiology: Of what economic value is good health? Give five important ways in which a teacher can help her pupils to have better health.

What are adenoids? How detected? Can a teacher do it to a child who has them? Have you tried to help such cases, and will you try to in the future?

Give at least five rights and duties given by law to teachers in regard to the health of pupils.

Tell why a pleasant comfortable home is valuable to farms.

Show the worth of good seed and tell how it may be so cured by breeding.

Of what use are forests? Show a number of ways. Tell of ways they may be preserved and increased in value.

Give reasons why there are differences in the value of horses, and tell how their general value may be increased.

Give several ways in which a good school is valuable to a community.

In what ways can you and other teachers increase the love of children and of older people for rural life? Will you make the effort to do this?

Exams in Civics

Much attention is paid in the rural schools to teaching children the fundamentals of town, village, city, state and federal government.

For this reason it is required that teachers be well versed on the various phases of government. Following is a sample of the questions in civics which teachers must answer correctly before being awarded certificates:

Define five of the following terms: citizen, trust, treaty, initiative, alien, copyright.

What were the principal defects of the articles of confederation?

What bills must originate in the House? In the Senate? Explain fully the work of a committee upon a bill.

Distinguish between "electors" and "presidential electors." Who are the candidates for president this year?

Discuss the thesis: "United States Senators Should be Elected by the People."

Mention the three functions that government should exercise. Show that these functions are all essential.

Give the offices of a rural school district, tell when elected for how long and who can vote for them.

Give some duties of each of them.

Give the same facts about five town officers.

Give the same facts about five county officers.

Give the same facts about five state officers.

Who are the members of the county board? Give five duties of this board.

What changes are made against our state university? What do we mean by the "Income Tax"? Give

Versailles Treaty

It would have been more explicit perhaps to have inserted the language of these articles, but it might have offended some of the irreconcilables, so only the numbers were used for identification purposes. In doing this Mr. Hughes felt that he was simply following out the mandate of the congressional peace resolution which specifically referred to the "treaty of Versailles" and not the "treaty of peace."

Stevens Lodge and the "Irreconcilables" group are said to have advised Mr. Hughes that the senate had been debating the Versailles pact for two years and wouldn't accept it under any considerations. This compelled the secretary to surrender his first convictions and face the facts of the situation—possibility of an understanding or a compromise which would bring an early peace.

The new instrument," says the newspaper, "breathes the spirit of sober minded, calmly calculating business men, who chiefly were concerned about the practical side of the interests involved. The spirit is the best guarantee for the speedy coming of friendly relations."

Vorwartz, the socialist organ, believes the negotiations just concluded reveal an American understanding with Germany for Germany's physical and psychological needs and that they were carried on in a spirit of conciliation and accommodation.

SECOND HEARING ON GAS RATES PLANNED

Each Side Wants to Check Figures Presented by Opponents.

A second hearing on Janesville's petition for lower gas rates will be held at 10 a. m. this morning, the next week in 10 days, this simulation having been fixed by the railroad commission following several hours of argument at Madison, Friday. The postponed hearing is being held to give engineers representing the city and officials of the New Gas Light company time to check up on figures introduced by the other, Friday.

Such a difference exists between figures presented by the city and those by the company that Commissioner Henry F. Troumper thought it necessary to allow this investigation on the part of each. An inventory presented by Supl. J. F. Wartendek of the gas company showing a plan of valuation of close to $100,000 is to be the object of careful scrutiny by engineers representing the city, because it is from $200,000 to $300,000 higher than the railroad commission's estimate of valuation based on a survey made in 1909. As the company is allowed to earn 8 per cent on its investment, a change in valuation would mean considerable in getting an adjustment in rates, it was pointed out.

Appearing at the hearing, Peter

Lewis, attorney for the city, and

Mrs. E. D. Wilcox, taking the Kenosha—Grabbing a wire which was carrying 26,000 volts of electricity, Joseph Schaeffer, aged 17, of South Milwaukee, was badly burned here Friday afternoon, but is still alive at the Kosmos hospital.

He was working with a Johns Manville Maintenance company at the Nash Motors plant here, when the coil of wire he was unrolling became charged and he was held powerless until the current was cut off at the switch.

His escape from instant death is deemed as miraculous by electricians.

the northwestern part of the state.

of the most promising tobacco crops in years. Local smoking houses are more than 250 hands.

Mrs. Louisa Towne, assisted by Mrs. John Roethe and Mrs. Paul Grubb, entertained about 40 women at bridges Saturday. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Alwell motored to Waukesha Friday and were accompanied by Miss Christine Merrill,

Mrs. Alwell's sister, who has been receiving treatments there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Ahberg are moving to Milwaukee.

Earl and Emma Shaw have returned

City Fund Urged.

"I should think the right way to go is to get the citizens to establish a fund. If it does raise the taxes a little, everybody is paying his share and a heavy burden does not fall on a few contributors. However, I do think people should contribute toward making Janesville's zoo a good one and one person who has any animal to spare the people like to see him is welcome to do so," he said.

The city of Janesville has a native animal of the state and wishes to contribute it, should do so.

"The land purchased is good land and is well located for a city park. The city might have had to pay more for it later and it is well it was bought at this time. Personally, I would have liked to see Wisconsin purchased, but I guess the price was prohibitive. The city may buy it yet, however."

Advocates Donations.

Janesville is large enough to have some citizens who would contribute enough money to put up a good building for the "Zoo," said N. R. Schmidley, manager of the Janesville Electric company. "One individual should put up such a building and the others contribute toward the while sum."

The city has done its share in purchasing the land, although its work is not over as the land must be put in condition and attractive roads put in."

"The first thing that needs to be done, however, is to make plans for the land where the zoo building shall be put and just where the roads shall go and how they shall be built. A grave error will be made if full plans are not made before work starts."

Want Native Animals.

"The first kind of animals that should be put in the zoo are the native beasts of Wisconsin. The state has a number of animals that should be in the collection and are entertaining and instructive to watch. I think a zoo would be a fine thing for the city."

more parks and drives along the river. All the best roads are not built with a view of the river, as they should be."

Good for Education.

From an educational viewpoint,

Sup. Frank O. Holt is absolutely in favor of the establishment of a zoo.

"If times were harder I would say that the money should be spent on education, but as they are not, try popular subscription and see how far it goes," he said. "The zoo is one of its greatest assets."

Leo Atwood, manager of Midfield

Lumber company feels that a zoo for Janesville would be a shop in the best direction, but believes the development should be gradual.

"It is one of the many things which would be well for the city and I favor it," said Frank Jackman, president of the Rock County National bank. "It could of course not be started at once as the city must spend several thousand dollars of improvements before anything else is done. Everyone enjoys watching animals and it would be a big thing for Janesville."

City Appropriation and Private Donations Are Among Suggestions.

Opinions on the best way to develop a zoo for Janesville differ among the prominent men.

Some think it is up to the city to pay all costs for purchasing animals,

while others think the taxers should be taxed in this way,

but that individual contributions should be obtained enough to make a good collection of animals, and that one individual should make a large contribution to start it.

"I am glad the city has purchased the land for the park," said George A. Jacobs, president of the Knights of Columbus, "and I hope it will be a good one."

The land purchased is good land and is well located for a city park.

The city might have had to pay more for it later and it is well it was bought at this time. Personally, I

GREAT STOCK SHOW FOR COUNTY FAIR

NAMES OF SCORES OF CITIZENS ON DESKS AT J. H. S.

Prize Animals to be Shown—Four Days of Baseball Planned.

Evansville.—The annual Rock county fair is expected to surpass all former records for the number of exhibits in livestock. The Evansville fair in the past has excelled in this branch and with other fairs so far in this vicinity having to erect over-flow tents, it is believed a record will be set at the Rock county fair.

Among the Holsteins with great records which will be shown at the fair and entered in competition for the premiums will be the famous "Hansie" steed, 101, owned by Milbradt brothers, whose dam has a two year old record of 35.50 pounds, which was increased to 35.50 at 6 years. Arrangements are being made so that the prize winning Holsteins at the Green county fair will be shown at Evansville.

Sept. 7 will be Children's day, when the members of the Rock County Cal club will show their animals and receive their prizes. There are 15 competitors in the department.

There will be plenty of baseball, Evansville and Magnolia will play Tuesday, the opening day, and the Stoughton Trucks and Edgerton High-Way Trailers will play Thursday and Friday. The Beloit Fairies and the Simmons team of Kenosha, the top notch team in the Mid-west, league, may play on Wednesday.

In the first year, Evansville's Earl Brightman and Scotch participants in the Aerial Lo-Raxx trapeze performers, and George Roy, a performer on the slack wire.

2 Dead, 2 Hurt in Booze Battle

Paintsville, Ky.—Two officers are dead, a third is wounded, and one of a band of alleged moonshiners is dying as the result of an ambush attack on Friday on Paint Creek, 10 miles from here. The dead are James Melvin, chief of police of Paintsville, and J. H. Reynolds, a deputy United States marshal. The wounded are Manuel Fitzpatrick, assistant chief of police of Paintsville, and Pat McKenzie, alleged moonshiner.

The three officers, hunting for a still on the McKenzie farm, where four brothers live, were walking up a ravine when a volley of shot gun and rifle fire came from a hidden cabin. The officers returned the fire. Another volley came from the earth and Melvin and Reynolds fell dead. Fitzpatrick, though suffering greatly and weak from loss of blood, rode back to Paintsville, where hurried to the McKenzie farm. Taking a circuitous route and approaching under cover of trees, the posse surrounded the four McKenzies and two of their adherents, who offered no resistance.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra to Continue

MINNEAPOLIS.—The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, threatened dissolution for several months because of union difficulties, will continue its concerts at the opening of the next season, following a lengthy settlement of the disputed settlement.

Reopeners of the Minneapolis Park board, with which the unions had been at variance from the "unfair list" and the concurrence of the national president of the American Federation of Musicians, removed the last obstacle which for a time seemed to be the cause for the disruption of the musical organization.

Trouble between the Minneapolis Orchestral association, which guarantees the Symphony's salaries, and the musicians of Minneapolis, in which the musicians are members, arose when the American

BIG FARM BUREAU RALLY SEPTEMBER 5

La Follette Sought as Speaker at Labor Day Picnic in Plymouth.

Efforts are being made to secure United States Senator Robert M. La Follette as the speaker for a big Farm Bureau picnic and exposition in the town of Plymouth, Labor Day, Sept. 5. Although Senator La Follette is being consistently invited to the events, and has several invitations for Labor day, the Plymouth committee in hopes he will accept the Rock county request.

While the big farm picnic is under the auspices of the Plymouth Farm Bureau, it is given generally for all the farmers in Rock county, their wives and families. Last year more than 2,000 attended.

The affair will be held in Inman's Woods, about 10 miles southwest of Janesville, and south of Elkhorn. Two departments of agriculture speakers are already on the program, with the possibility of more speakers being secured within the next few days.

George McFerron, Wausau, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau, will talk.

The exposition will be an all day affair, opening in the morning with an address by J. M. Vargas, swine specialist of the bureau of animal husbandry, College of Agriculture. Following this, the brothers will give a demonstration of feeding pigs economically on corn, barley, barley and legume pasture. An address by County Agent R. T. Glusman will follow. Rev. Ramsell Shropshire is also on the morning program.

Following a picnic dinner at noon, races and other athletic contests, with a ball game, will be held. Then will come an address on the "Eradication of Tuberculosis in Faile," by Dr. James S. Hely, of the state department of agriculture, and a talk by Mr. McFerron, the state Farm Bureau president.

The Luther Valley band will play throughout the day.

C. Onsgard, chairman of the Plymouth Farm and its committee, are making extensive preparations, hoping to make it the biggest Farm Bureau rally ever held in Rock county.

Boys Back from "Y" Camp With Many Honors

A highly successful period was experienced by the Janesville boys at Chautaukla lake according to reports made to A. C. Preston on their return Thursday night. Sixteen boys attended from Janesville. This is the smallest delegation in several years largely due to the effect the large attendance at Rockdale had upon it.

George Terwilliger, Richard Flynn, Carlos Palmer, Kenneth McMillin, W. H. H. and John Anderson, Orlie Lindquist won bronze trophies and Henry Schwerner won a silver square. These were awarded for all around efficiency in social, physical, religious and moral education. In order to win a bronze square a boy must have a grade of at least 650 in a 1,000 point scale and to win a silver square a boy must be attending for his second year and have at least 500 points. No gold squares were awarded at this period.

1. With Aquatic Honors.
Carlos Palmer, Earl Olsen, Rich, Al Peterson and Claude Lindquist passed the swimmer life saving tests while Henry Schwerner and Kenneth Mollin passed the seamanship test.

In the aquatic meet Carlos Palmer was the individual star taking first, in 23 yard dash, 100 yard dash and back swim. Henry Schwerner took four seconds; team dive, 100 yard dash; 23 yard dash and 25 yard back swim. Earl Olsen took third in the 23 yard back swim.

George Terwilliger excelled in the track meet winning the broad jump, shot put, 100 yard dash and second in running high jump in class A.

2. Milwaukee Gets Shield.
Carlos Palmer won first in high jump, shot put, 100 yard dash and 25 yard broad jump in Class B. Willie Hooke took first in the running broad jump and third in the 100 yard dash. Kenneth McMillin won second in 100 dash and second in shot put.

It had been three more boys to perform as creditably as did Palmer and Schwerner there would have been a chance for Janesville to keep the Barnes trophy given for the one boys in any one period from one city who had the highest score in any class. Milwaukee undoubtedly will win the shield.

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM

Build a Community Center and Convention Hall for the city for athletes, conventions, musical contests, dramatics, and banquets. It should be the white city. This is also a part of a program to provide music and entertainment for the people the year around.

Complete the city plan. Make more small parks and playgrounds and provide recreation areas where the whole people may exercise at will.

Camp for auto tourists coming to Janesville or passing through.

Erect a permanent memorial for the soldiers of the war, suitable and adequate, and preserve the relics and souvenirs of that and all other American wars in a public place.

Finish the paving of Janesville streets and complete the sewer system.

Make all main highways into city of concrete to connect with good pavements in Janesville. Keep the city looking bright and clean with point and the streets free from litter.

Either build a new hotel or so increase the capacity of the present hotel as to take care of the traveling public and be able to house them.

Finish the high school at an early date and give the children proper educational facilities.

OFFICIAL SUPPORT FOR CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS.

From the office of the state superintendent of schools comes support of the movement for consolidated rural districts. This is what the Gazette has been seeking for some time. The one-teacher school was the only possible solution of the school question in the days when Frances Willard was a girl, but that was 65 years ago. The point to be stressed is that under our present system the boy and girl who is unfortunate enough to live in a rural section where there must be a one-teacher school and only a few pupils is being penalized. There is lacking that possibility of giving, to the classes proper attention, a condition more pronounced in larger one-room schools than in the schools with but few pupils. In the smaller schools with only a few pupils there is no stimulation to better effort.

Consolidated district schools mean that the boy and girl on the farm will have equal advantages with the city boy, and in addition get the benefit that comes from closeness to nature. Then the rural pupil will have the better of the city person, for there are many things that the rural pupil can learn from observation and contact never possible for the city bred youth. Consolidated schools may not come with a rush but they will come, and some time we will wonder how we ever were willing to continue under the system that has made no change in 100 years.

One Wisconsin paper carries real estate transfers under the head of vital statistics. It may be true at that.

HENRY FORD'S MUSCLE SHOALS OFFER.

The United States government began the construction of dams for the purpose of utilizing the water power of the Tennessee river for the making of nitrates, during the war. There has been some scandal about it. Charges have been made that great sums have been wasted. It has been a source of debate and discussion for months. The farmers of the country have generally been in favor of the project on the statement that eventually it would enable them to secure cheaper fertilizer.

Now comes Henry Ford and offers to lease the government property at Muscle Shoals for 100 years. Here too rises a difference of opinion as to whether the government should accept or refuse the offer. It may be well understood from the beginning that Henry Ford is doing nothing for the general good of the public without seeing a few dollars in it for Henry. He wants the government to complete Dam No. 1, to develop 600,000 horse power and to turn it over to him when 100,000 h. p. has been developed for 100 years renewable in perpetuity. It will cost the government according to official estimates $33,000,000 in addition to the $17,000,000 already spent. That will be a total of $50,000,000. Henry Ford offers for this lease 5 per cent on a valuation of $20,000,000 or $33 a horse power. Ordinary cost of horse power in financing such a project runs about $200, while the interest is figured at close to $12 per h. p. Mr. Ford offers the government about $2 a h. p. for interest. In addition he will buy outright plants, buildings and machinery already installed costing the government so far $57,000,000. For $3,000,000. Ford also wants another dam site all completed by the government bringing up the total cost to the public of $162,000,000. Both propositions would bring the Government—the people—earnings of $1,680,000 or a little over 1 per cent. The work has been done from the money received from the sale of bonds on which we are paying 3 and 4 per cent interest. The difference would be paid by the people.

It would seem to be a good thing for Henry Ford and mighty poor business for the United States. It is said that powerful Wall street interests want the Ford proposition rejected. That is not sufficient reason why it should be. It reflects itself as a poor business policy. But most of all the public should know and the farmer should know what will become of the fertilizer plan if Mr. Ford secures the property?

Senator Reed could not talk better for the brewery if he owned one.

MILWAUKEE AND THE G. A. R. CONVENTION.

Milwaukee has extended an invitation to the Grand Army of the Republic to meet there next year. It is most fitting. There is no better convention city in the country than Milwaukee. It has many attractions and is the seat of a Soldier's Home that has made many a soldier happy. Wis-

THE IMMIGRANT FINDS A BACKER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

New York City.—The widespread prevalence of unemployment in this country is proving no check to the incoming tide of aliens. The green Goddess of Liberty continues her beacon with her torch, although the "No More Help Wanted" sign occurs with dismal frequency throughout the land. Every liner brings in its hundreds of immigrants who have fled the industrial depression of their respective countries only to encounter a similar, if less desperate depression here.

While most of them are destined to join friends or relatives, the great majority have no definite assurances that they will be able to obtain work. The absence of any such prospect, however, does not seem to bother them. They are more than willing to take their chances with the 5,700,000 Americans now out of jobs. Their immigration, they feel, is by no means a case of jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

Talk with some of these self-confident aliens at Ellis Island, and you will better understand the spirit of grim hopefulness which inspires them. A good many are of a much higher type than that which commanded entrance to this country before the war. A surprising number of Norwegians have been coming in, for instance, as well as Finns, Danes, and Dutch farmers, but of course they do not begin to match numbers with the Italians, Russians, and Czechoslovaks. All of the immigrants manifest a great eagerness to obtain work, but they are particular as to the kind. Scarcely any will consider going on farms. They want to stay in the big cities and go into the factories and shops.

Wandering about Ellis Island, the reporter observed a group of tall, husky Norwegians who were headed for the lumber camps of the Northwest; several Germans who had been promised work in bakeries and delicatessen shops in New York, a silent, patient group of Dutch peasants who were going to be taken care of by the Dutch immigration headquarters, and a few Czechoslovaks, who were destined for shop work in Chicago. As far as could be ascertained, the great mass of others had nothing further in view than a welcome from friends and relatives.

ed had found a factory job for him in Chicago. He spoke enthusiastically in giant Slavic syllables, which an interpreter neatly converted into plain English. In the old country, the man explained, he had made only forty cents a day, but that had been on a farm. He laughed scornfully when it was suggested that he might find farming more congenial than factory work in this country.

No, the new immigrants know what they want in the way of work, and as a matter of fact, they stand a fairly good chance of getting it. They have all the advantages on their side when it comes to competing with American-born workers. The immigrant may not be able to speak English and he may not be acquainted with American customs, but these things are scarcely necessary. Upon arriving in this country, he is met by friends or relatives who speak his own language and who immediately escort him to a colony which speaks it also. He can read the signs on its stores and he can read its newspaper. There he finds people from his own province, perhaps his own little town—people even who know his family. They cluster around him and pay him extravagant compliments while he gives them the latest news from home. There is (alas, Mr. Volstead) wine, as a rule, and food of the peculiar native kind to which he has been accustomed.

Somewhere in the district, moreover, there is almost always a relative who stands in with one of its prominent men—a man who controls many jobs and knows the location of many others. This important personage is frequently an American-born member of the race who, resisting assimilation, has remained in his native colony because it yielded him abundant profits. If the immigrant fails to obtain employment through him, there is always the foreign employment agency to which he may apply.

Thus it may be seen that the plight of the newly-arrived immigrant is by no means as harrowing as some are wont to depict it. Compare it, indeed, with the lot of the average unemployed American workman, who, lacking this radical claimlessness, is an isolated unit in the community, and its superior advantages will be apparent.

In the past, perhaps, before large foreign colonies were built up in all of our big cities, the immigrant's struggle was unduly arduous, but since the war, conditions have improved for him.

For one thing, he is no longer east of like deadwood from his native land and left to drift for himself as an alien government. In the eyes of both his mother and foster countries he has become a figure of importance. While the United States is proceeding industriously with its Americanization campaign, European nations are building up strong nationalization programs.

Before the war, the chief European nations were too powerful and self-complacent to worry over the emigration of their surplus population. The western hemisphere, they felt, was more than willing to take it. There was, they decided, no necessity for a definite emigration policy. The war, however, revealed two disagreeable facts: that each nation was harboring disloyal aliens within its borders, and that its own loyal sons on foreign soil had been ignored until they were beyond reclaiming.

Every important European nation now has an immigration policy influenced by these two discoveries. Every nation is encouraging the emigration of alien nationalities from its borders, which explains the tremendous exodus of Hungarians from Czechoslovakia and of Jews from all of Europe. Every nation is refusing to receive back in its fold aliens who left it during the war to fight for their mother countries. Every nation is determined to keep track of its own native emigrants; to see that they are well protected in foreign lands, and thus win and keep their loyalty. Holland has already called a conference of European states to consider uniform plans for affording such protection, and it has been one of the first countries to open immigration aid bureaus in foreign cities.

According to Frances Kellor, an American woman who recently toured Europe with a view to studying its emigration policies, many countries have enlarged the powers of their consulates in the United States to protect immigrants, and they are supporting societies and homes and movements to look after their nationals. "They are encouraging them to apply to their consulates for advice and assistance," she says. "In this work they have able support from a considerable part of the foreign language press in this country."

"They mean to control the interests of their immigrants by advancing their economic interests:

"They mean to control the interests of their immigrants by advancing their economic interests: by the establishment of parish schools; by supporting the foreign language press through advertising; and by fostering the establishment of cultural societies—all for the purpose of perpetuating the language, ideals, culture and interests of the native land."

They mean also to keep in touch with their nationals by social events, and, so far as the United States is concerned, it will see more and more distinguished members of these races visiting their nationals here as guests of honor, for the purpose of preserving home ties. They mean at least to consider the advisability of giving their nationals abroad representation in the home country. They favor the establishment of immigrant banks and of branch banks in immigrant countries where the native language is spoken to stimulate the transmission of money home and investments in the home land."

AT THE OFFICE WITH DAD.

Not fun for me to work with Dad.

Nothing ever pleased me so.

As when he'd say an' say, "Let's go

Then he'd always act as though

I was big and had to go.

That his little boy was dead.

And my father should be glad.

Still to have his little lad.

WHAT 12 MILLION WOMEN WILL DO

No Serious Problem Says Writer for Surplus Female in England.

(By Margaret Walter)

London.—There is such a lot of talk about the 2 million extra women in England now, the menace that women are such a discount mean to civilization and their unfeigned demoralization, that I thought I'd consult that greatest authority on women in the world, Lilian Charlotte Barker, C. E. B.

Miss Barker is a large woman, with broad shoulders, iron gray hair cut short, and laughing eyes. She always wears tailored clothes, shiny made like a man's, and a man's place. Her hands are unusually kept and she walks about with her round hat set well down on her head, but leaving her forehead—the broad, genial one—open to the air. At the slightest provocation her hands slip into her pockets. She smokes when she likes—to please herself, not to impress strangers. Her voice is low and clear and very gentle; she is 47, women instinctively trust her, and men treat her as a comrade.

In the war Miss Barker, who began life as an elementary teacher and was principal of the largest women's institute in London, was put in charge of the thirty thousand women employed at Woolwich arsenal, as well as being chief inspector of all women munitions workers throughout the country. She is now executive officer in the ministry of labor for the training and employment of women who suffered in the war through the loss of their male superiors. Two-thirds of the female population of these islands have passed through Miss Barker's hands, as school children, girls and industrial workers.

Not a menace to England.

"The excessive number of women shown by the census is not a menace in England," she said. "It is the other way round. There is a vast amount of work to be done and the women of England have got to do it. There is just one menace, and that is that people will not see that in order to do their job women have got to be trained for it. We trained them for war work at high pressure, under terrible handicap, and they made good, down to the last little slapper. Now we have got to train those two million, put them to work hard, and help them to forget everything else in their job."

"But what about their moral position?" I inquired. "There is much talk of enforced bigness and the like."

Look here. The English nation is a moral nation. You say that the women exceed the men by two million. Well, that means that the women are the determining factor, and let me tell you that the women of England are sound, moral and clean to the very core. I know this is true and I am ready to stake everything on that knowledge."

"But the unmarried mother, the free love matches, and all those stories—so much about where do they fit in?"

"I never bother my head about stories. Here are facts. In Woolwich during the war 1 had thirty thousand girls working in three shifts of eight hours every day of the year. We know those girls' body and soul, past and present—we had to. They stripped when they came inside the gates and then stripped again when they went out. We fed them and clothed them and then there's eat a chocolate cream that we hadn't analyzed. We went through accidents and air raids and explosions together."

Percentage of Immorality Small.

"Well, the percentage of immorality

—what I mean is, the number of girls who had illegitimate babies in that period of five years was just one-fifth of 1 per cent. Mark that. There are plenty of other facts we've got, and that is, during a time when crazy tools were flying the air with rot about the duty of having babies, of providing England with sons at no matter what cost, the glory of motherhood ** at a time when temptation to irregular life was at its maximum.

"I'm not a particle worried about the women's morals. Their morals are sound. We have never had a girl complain that she wanted a husband. In the first place, every mortal girl thinks she's going to get married when the time comes. But some of us don't. We get other work to do and we put our whole hearts and souls into it, and there you are. Girls sometimes tell me they want babies; and I find them baby work to do and they make good at it."

"There isn't any mystery about the question and there isn't any cause for alarm. There is just one answer to the woman question, and that is work hard, full time work—that the woman herself has chosen and for which she is by character and inclination fitted. Then she will be as good a citizen as her grandmother was a wife and mother."

Formula No. 130 was right.

In this formula we found that at last the ideal shaving cream was attained. It proved superior on these tests:

It multiplies itself in lather 250 times. Just one-half gram—a bit of cream—proves plenty for a luxurious shave.

We knew these softening, soothing oils were the best for the face—for 3,000 years that had been known. But the problem was to apply their balsmy blend to a shaving cream.

It was not easy—though we certainly knew soap making well. Our creation of the finest toilet soap known had proved that.

We made up and tested scientifically 130 different kinds of shaving cream. All other known creams also were tested to learn their virtues and their faults.

And step by step, and month by month, we improved formulas until perfection was reached in each quality desired.

Now test it yourself.

Millions have already adopted Palmolive Shaving Cream because of these superiorities.

MARCHING LEGION

AID SERVICE MEN
In cooperating with the War Veterans Bureau of the Federal Government in its plan to sue the Legion up and down throughout the country to aid ex-service men in securing compensation for injuries received in the service, all Janesville men who have claims are asked to file their names and addresses with Dr. W. T. Clark, 411 Hayes block, postmaster of the Richard Ellis Janesville post of the American Legion. This is for the purpose of having a list of names on file of disabled soldiers and thus get better consideration. This plan of lining up the disabled men of the city is not to be confined to Janesville, it is stated, but every ex-service man is asked to avail himself of this opportunity. Men knowing of others whom they think should receive compensation are requested by the legion to submit the names of these fellows.

Exact date as to when the "clean up" squad for Wisconsin will visit Janesville has not been set. It is understood here that it will be some time in late September or early October. The schedule as arranged to date follows:

At Fond du Lac, now for Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Winnebago, Calumet and Green Lake counties.

At La Crosse, Aug. 23-Sept. 1 for La Crosse, Monroe, Vernon and Juneau counties.

At Superior, Sept. 6-10 for Douglas, Bayfield, Ashland, Washburn, Sawyer and Burnett counties.

At Duluth, Aug. 12-16 for Marquette, Rose, Wood, Lincoln and Lapland counties.

The plan is for the men in these counties to go in to the city where the "clean up" squad will be stationed. It is not known what city will be designated for Rock and adjoining counties. Transportation is furnished for men to go to the city where the squad is located.

While the "clean up" squad will not have the power to grant compensation, the medical examiner with the squad will have authority to authorize immediate hospitalization on and where a man needs treatment, the medical officer can send him to the hospital without further delay. On all compensation claims, the squad will see that proper forms are executed and sent to Washington so that an immediate adjustment of the claim may be had.

Janesville men who have already filed claims which have not been acted upon should be prepared to furnish at least two affidavits substantiating their claims, one from their employer and one from the medical officer who has attended him since being discharged from the service. These affidavits must show that they are suffering a disability due to service.

In regard to the campaign, C. R. Morris, director of the War Veterans' Board has notified the officials of his department that no claim should be disallowed unless imperative saying that doubts are to be resolved in favor of the ex-service man.

HUGE COUNTY PICNIC

The tentative program of the picnic for all ex-service men, no matter whether they are members of the American Legion or not, is announced by Carl F. Fornius, head of the Janesville committee. The picnic is being held jointly by the Janesville and Beloit posts with Edgerton, Evansville, Milton Junction and Orfordville cooperating. It will be held Sunday, Sept. 4, at Yost's park on Rock river.

Free transportation will be provided for all service men. No charge will be made at the park nor for the supper to be served.

The first activities will commence at 3:30 p.m. races, games, music, and vaudeville. The talent for the entertainment will be provided by the Beloit post.

At 3:30 a pick-up ball game will be played between members of the Janesville and Beloit posts.

The big free feed will be spread upon the tables at 5:30 p.m. will be followed by short speeches.

Expectations are that hundreds of service men will attend this star affair. It is the first of its kind and is intended to bring the service men of the county closer and bid Beloit in getting ready for the Wisconsin department convention to be held at the Gateway City next spring.

PREPARE FOR NEEDING

An executive meeting of the Janesville legion post will be held early next week to expect that preliminary plans for the coming winter activities will be started. It will be held at the Grand hotel, the day to be set by Commander Leigh J. Woodworth upon his return from his vacation.

The next regular meeting of the legion is to be held in the Moose lodge rooms in the Myers' theatre building on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The outlook is for a big year.

CONTEMPLATE DRIVE

A big membership drive to get more members into the local post of the legion is being considered. The present membership is about 150. A large number of men are being enrolled by the post, their dues being paid through the present business situation until such time as the member is able to pay them himself.

When one man learned this he decided that he was proud to belong to an organization that cared so much for its men. He paid his dues as soon as possible and turned around and brought in another member.

PREPARE FOR NATIONAL

Information reaching here that 16 railroads have already granted a reduction in fares to 1 cent a mile for legionnaires going to the national convention at Kansas City Oct. 23-25 has aroused more interest than any previous national. While neither the Northwestern nor the St. Paul local ticket offices have received information in regard to lower excursion rates, steps are already being taken to gather a large delegation to attend. Commander Gustav Strandberg of the Beloit post has informed the Gazette that a large number are going from the Galveston city.

He declares that he would like to see the Janesville post get together with Beloit and perhaps hire a special car for the trip.

STRINDBERG THANKFUL

Upon learning that the Gazette is running a weekly Saturday column in the interest of the American legion and the ex-service men, Commander Strinberg did not wait to send a letter but telephoned to the Gazette expressing his thanks.

"Your department will be a big help to the American Legion in Rock county," he said. "You can rest assured that we shall do everything possible to keep you supplied with news."

SAIT IT WITH JOBS

An ex-service man whose usual work is that of a mechanical engineer came into Janesville the other day looking for agents to sell a certain product. He went directly to the office of Adjutant W. T. Clark and asked for the names of service men out of work.

Commenting upon it, Dr. Clark says:

"I would like to see every business house in Janesville, in the various parts of that city. The service man is looking for a job because of present business conditions. I believe that he should be given first consideration when there is a vacancy."

NEW NOTE SOUNDED

An example of the closer cooperation between the legion posts of Rock county was shown last Sunday when a small delegation of Beloit legionnaires came to Janesville to attend the funeral of Sgt. John Flynn, former Beloit post member killed in action in France. The Beloit post heard of the funeral through reading the account in the newspapers and came up voluntarily.

An End Comes to Triple Headed Care of Soldier

The end of dual responsibility and divided authority in the government's handling of former service men is over, says the head of the treasury department of the treasury department. All government agencies administering legislation benefit veterans of the World War are consolidated into one organization, under one head, with one object to attempt to demonstrate that the United States can make of its dealings with ex-service men a coordinated and efficient business.

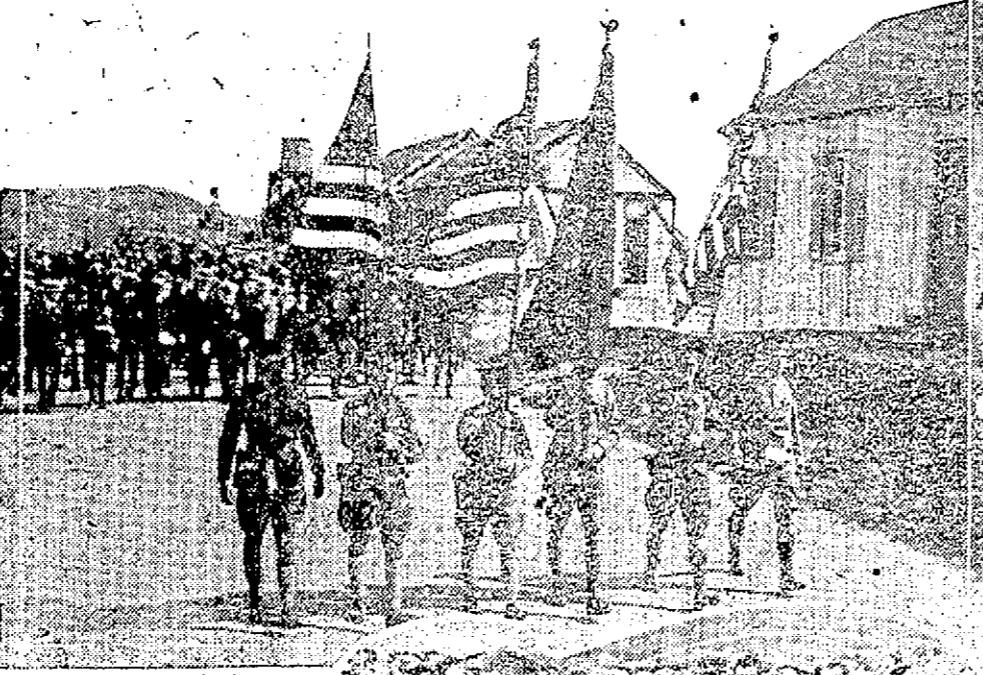

This new organization, the Veterans Bureau, will be headed by Charles R. Forbes of Seattle. His is the responsibility of solving the problem of providing hospitalization for all ex-service men who have been war-crippled or disabled.

More Care Promised

Supplementing the hospital construction program for which $15,000,000 has been appropriated, the new bureau will have plans for the rehabilitation of those veterans in pressing need of hospital care. Rigid inspection of these hospitals will be under his management.

He will see that the 25,600 war-crippled men cared for in the 800 private and 90 government hospitals at present available for their use and the 1,000 average monthly increase of those requiring treatment. # Mandell Shades Moore-Net Entries Are Being Made

SAM'S HEADWORK FOOLS EXPERIENCED PAL BEFORE 5,000

GAZETTE DECISIONS.
Sammy Marshall, Rockford, shaded Pal Moore, Memphis, 1010; Johnny Dundee, Rock Island, and Frankie Schuster, Chicago, battled to draw. (1011) Frankie Kelly, Chicago, shaded Babe Asher, A. E. champ, (1012) Spider Jack Wolfe outwitted Huckleberry Flan (611; all at Aurora).

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

It was a draw; Pal Moore got a shade; Mandell won on points; these were the decisions handed down in Aurora's greatest fight show Friday night at the Auditorium. Mandell, the lightning fast from Rockford and Pal Moore, former champ of Memphis, clashed in a whirlwind windup of a great 25-round card. No matter what others say, "Smiling Sammy" displayed the greater ring generalship and fighting throughout.

Stepping into the dim glow of a weak lighting system, Sammy made a concerted and emphatic entrance at 8. Rockford last trying to make a clump of Sammy only to step right into a stiff punch to the body. There was considerable stepping during the battle with Sammy on the upper crust, although the points scored were few and far between.

Sammy Used Head.

Before a crowd of 5,000 that jammed the arena—special car loads of them from Rockford and Chicago—Sammy won instant approval. He merited it all the way and pitted remarkable headwork against Moore's longer experience.

In the last four rounds, the Rockford flier lost his fire, tried to make a left hook to the jaw, jammed his head far back. He followed through with rights and lefts and made a clump of the Memphis Idol.

There was not a time during the scrap that Moore had the crowd with him unless it were at the introduction. The climax of the battle came in the eighth when he received a missing from the mob for failure to meet their calls for more fight.

Great Dundee-Schaefer.

The semi-windup was the quietest, ever staged in the middle west. After 15, in the opening two rounds and taking a shade in the third and fourth, Dundee let loose. He told Schaefer, in the fifth and the sixth, spilled him unmercifully for the nine count and then for a four. Schaefer ended the round hanging to his opponent. In the next four stanzas, Schaefer came back like a mad man and knocked Dundee all over the ring. It might have been the share for Dundee.

In a pretty 10-round scrap, Frankie Kelly of Chicago got the slightest shade over Babe Asher. Kelly got four of the rounds and three were draws.

First Tennis Club Meet Here Boosting Tennis Game

McMillan With Praying Colonels' for Another Year

Exhibition of tennis of high calibre is expected here at the first amateur tournament of the Janesville Y. Tennis club which will open on the Y. M. C. A. courts next week, as soon as the drawings are made. Entries which can be made either at the Y. M. C. A. or to D. C. Boles, Gazette, close next Thursday.

The first to enter is A. C. Duland, Thorpe, in their entries Saturday for both singles and doubles. Competition is going to be keen for the silver loving cup which is offered for the winners of the singles. Gold medals go to the winners of the doubles events. Many boys and men of lesser ability are being attracted to the tournament as a result of the consolation event. Players who are eliminated in the preliminary round will play in a consolation event with a gold medal offered for the winner. This will give the novices a better chance.

George Bennett and Merrill Nowlan have announced their intention of playing in the doubles and will give the Milton stars some competition in this event. C. K. Patton and Sam McKeig, rated as top notchers in the Janesville club, are also going into the doubles as partners.

It is hoped that a large field will come in before the entries close.

This is the first attempt of the Janesville Y. Tennis club to revive tennis in Janesville and the future prosperity will depend on the success of the coming event.

The Top Tip Can for Wadham's Oil

Devised for Your Convenience in Oil Handling

Five gallons is undoubtedly the quantity that most car owners would like to keep on hand at the home garage—but old fashioned five gallon cans were heavy and awkward. When anywhere near full, it was almost impossible to get a firm, convenient hold on them.

They dirtied the clothes and shot their intermittent stream of oil almost anywhere but into the filling measure.

Contrast with this the simple convenience of the new Wadham's Top Tip container. Not a particle is spilled or wasted. Not a spot gets on the clothing, hands or floor.

Needless to say you can get the Top Tip can with no other oil. It is exclusively Wadham's.

London—Conditions in the disturbed districts of Calicut, British India, are shown to be of considerable gravity in an official statement issued at the India office here.This statement, based on a telegram from Madras, which was filed in that city early Friday, says a mob of 2,000 fanatic natives attackedThe revolt in India has been smoldering for many months. It began shortly after the armistice with propaganda from the Bolsheviks.
One man, Ghandi, has been preaching the doctrine of India for the Indian and called the revolution by what is called the revolution.
It was a boycott of everything English. Refusal was given to Indians to attend social or governmental functions of the British-Indian government.
Then there has been the boycott of English goods. Recent activities of the Greeks against the Turks and the possible end to the Sultan's government with consequent loss of power by the Mohammedans has stirred the Moslem that city is said to be quiet. Further south and east, however, there have been a number of serious fights.PLAN PUNISHMENT FOR prominent personages held responsi-

RELIEF IS FELT

Administration Passes Bad
Spot in Road; Ratification
Expected.BY DAVID LAWRENCE,
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.Washington—Now that the treaty of peace between Germany and the United States has been signed, it is possible to discuss from government sources some of the inside facts of the negotiation.In the first place, Germany was told in courteous but firm tones that the United States could not agree to anything which would place America on a different footing with respect to Germany than the allied powers have been under the Versailles treaty.Secondly, the United States felt it necessary to keep secret because of a fear that critics both in this country and Germany would raise issues which would make impossible to obtain an agreement.Thirdly, the United States has kept the allies informed of the abstract some of which has been going on, and the assumption is that now the treaty has been negotiated the allies will be fully advised of the agreement.This government, however, fully expects the allies to concur and sees no reason to ask for explicit concurrence, because America has not been given any rights or preferences by Germany which are not enjoyed by the allies. No objections from the allies are therefore anticipated.Secretary Hughes was told that he

TRADE SCHOOL TO HAVE MORE PUPILS

Dorrans Sees Heavier Enrollment Under New Law—Faculty Is Hired.

A large number of inquiries have been received by Supt. J. M. Dorrans, as to who must attend school. Many have come from employers of child labor, a misfortune which is having arisen due to the changes made in the law at the session of the legislature.

All boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 not graduates of high school and who are not attending any other public or parochial school must attend the vocational school. Mr. Dorrans says boys and girls between the ages of the eighth grade or attended school nine years, not including kindergarten before they may leave school or secure a permit to work.

Lack Room Here

"The new law calls for the attendance of half time at school between the ages of 14 and 18 years. This means a half day each day," said Mr. Dorrans. "However, as I see our situation now, it will be impossible to cause of the lack of space, for us to take care of this extra class of half day students and all the state department would still permit us to carry classes as last year for students at least, it will be necessary for us to continue the eight hours attendance at school between the ages of 14 and 18 as last year, only extending the age limit to 18 as required by the new law."

Permits to work are necessary for children up until their 18th birthday, but are not necessary beyond this age. The department will regulate those over 18, not regulated by permit.

However, it is the duty of the employer to see that the student attends school although he may have no permit between 17 and 18 years.

All Day Classes

In addition to part time classes, all day classes have been offered for the past two years and will be offered again this year for boys and girls. Last year many were promoted from these classes to the high school and high school credits were given some to the work done in the vocational school.

For the best interests of everyone involved, it would be best, states Mr. Dorrans for the children between the ages of 17 and 18 who come under this law to consult him before the opening of school.

Seven on Faculty

The faculty for the vocational school will be as follows: J. M. Dorrans, director and supervisor of manual training; Miss Margaret Youngelaus, girl's academic work; Fred A. Wright, machine shop, drafting and forging; Miss Nellie Goss, home arts; Harvey Goss, auto mechanics and woodwork; Miss Alice Sutton, commercial; and Simon Troff, boys, academic.

Mr. Wright and Mr. Goss attended the training school at the University of Wisconsin, while Sutton takes the place of Miss Rosenbaum who resigned. This department has been reorganized and a regular day business course is offered for adults who are preparing for office positions. Men may receive special instruction in machine shop, auto mechanics, woodwork and drafting. Women may enter the classes in sewing, cooking and a business college course. All courses include instruction in English, mathematics and science.

Night School Oct. 4

The night school will open Oct. 4. The day school opens Sept. 6, with the rest of the public schools.

The State Vocational board is charged with carrying out the new law with respect to the re-education of those disabled by accident or industry, and returning them again to full employment and to full earning capacity. The state board may supply trade, commercial or tutorial instruction, or any phase of instruction that will enable the individual to return to civil employment qualified to make a living. This instruction may be in a new field entirely, or it may be in the field that the individual is already familiar with. The state board may also supply artificial limbs. The local vocational school will cooperate with the state board in this work.

Organize Into Units

A new departure of the Work of the school this year will be the organization of all work into units, with certificates granted at the end of the year for the number of units accomplished. In this way the work will be more intensive and will permit closer individual instruction.

A good many people do not realize the wide scope of the work of the vocational school. The school may be called upon by anyone desiring to specialize in any phase of work within its scope. The field of the vocational school is undoubtedly large because it recognizes no age limit beyond 14 years. The school, of course, is not permitted to take any students under 14 years of age.

Less than half of the township assessors have turned in their new assessment rolls to County Clerk Howay W. Lee and Assessor of Estates F. A. Taylor, supervisor of assessments. Many more are expected to be received next week. There may be a slight decrease in the total assessed valuation of the county this year, it is believed, although it is possible the figures will be about the same as last year.

Rural School Teachers Must Be Well Grounded in Practical Subjects

Which is better for a farmer and his family—go sell his grain and coarse feed, or sell them as meat and milk?

Poor apples and good ones are often mixed together on a tree. Why this difference and how may they be made uniformly good?

These are sample questions asked of Rock county rural school teachers to test their knowledge for grades certificates. The plan of having county teachers thoroughly versed in agricultural science is part of the scheme of practicability being worked out by County Supt. O. D. Antshel.

Other Farm Questions

Here are a few more of the questions asked in this department:

Why is good digestion of a cow of real value to the owner?

Tell why a man is more comfortable in a good, well-ventilated house.

Show the worth of good seed and tell how it may be so cured by breeding.

Of what use are forests? Show a number of ways. Tell of ways they may be preserved and increased in value.

Give reasons why there are differences in the value of horses, and tell how their general value may be increased.

Give several ways in which a good school is valuable to a community.

In what ways can you and other teachers increase the love of children and of older people for rural life? Will you make the effort to do this?

Exams in Civics

Much attention is paid in the rural schools to teaching children the fundamentals of town, village, city, state and federal government. For this reason it is required that teachers be tested on the various branches of government. Following are some of the questions in civics which teachers must answer correctly before being awarded certificates:

Define five of the following terms: citizen, trust, treaty, initiative, alien, copyright.

What were the principal defects of the articles of confederation?

What bill must originate in the House? In the Senate? Explain fully the work of a committee upon a bill.

Distinguish between "electors" and "presidential electors." Who are the candidates for president this year?

Discuss the thesis: "United States Senators Should be Elected by the People."

Mention the three functions that government should exercise. Show that these functions are all essential.

Give the officers of a rural school district, tell when elected for how long, and who can vote for them. Give some duties of each of them.

Give the same facts about five town officers.

Give the same facts about five county officers.

Give the same facts about five state officers.

Who are the members of the county board? Give five duties of this board.

What charges are made against our state university? What do we mean by the "Income Tax"? Give a sentence.

ALLIES EXPECTED TO CONCUR IN TREATY

Known that the secretary of state originally favored admitting the Versailles treaty with a broad and comprehensive reservation.

Senator Lodge and the "Irreconcilable" group are said to have advised Mr. Hughes that the senate had been debating the Versailles pact for two years and wouldn't accept it under any considerations. This compelled the secretary to surrender his first convictions and face the facts of the situation—possibility of an uncontested treaty or compromise that would bring an early peace.

The negotiations for clearing up American relations with Germany and helping toward the stabilizing of economic conditions abroad appeared to Mr. Hughes to be so imperative in the interests of humanity that he abandoned the pact.

Germany, the socialist organ, believes the negotiations just concluded reveal an American understanding for Germany's physical and psychological needs and that they were carried on in a spirit of conciliation.

The new instrument, "says this newspaper, 'breathes the spirit of sober minded, calmly calculating businessmen, who chiefly were concerned for the practical side of the interests involved. This spirit is the best guarantee for the speedy conclusion of this instrument.'

Germany, the socialist organ, believes the negotiations just concluded reveal an American understanding for Germany's physical and psychological needs and that they were carried on in a spirit of conciliation.

Badger Papers Show Decrease

Madison, Wis.—The number of newspapers published in Wisconsin is diminishing from the height it reached in 1913 when there were 555 daily or weekly publications. Figures compiled from the state blue book show: From 59 daily papers and 327 weekly papers the number has risen to 50 dailies and 360 weekly.

This large decrease in the number of weekly papers is attributed to consolidations in a number of counties, while the decrease of nine in the number of dailies is due to the same cause, it is believed.

Out of the 419 papers published in 1921 there were 293 registered as republican, 103 as political, 91 democratic, 165 independent, three socialist, one nonpartisan, and one anti-prohibition.

Six Wisconsin cities have more than one daily publication, including Milwaukee with seven dailies. Sheboygan, Kenosha, Madison, Milwaukee and Racine have two dailies each.

Don't be visionary: It's foolish to plant sunflower seeds to raise rainbow.

WILL FOLLOW HUGHES.

The average critic of the treaty here who hasn't been a party to the controversy sees little difference between Hughes' first plan of a Versailles treaty with reservations and the new treaty which includes certain parts of the Versailles instrument.

The only objection heard is from a legal viewpoint because in the first part of the new pact there is a specific reference made to the fact that the United States didn't ratify the Versailles treaty and later on claims are made for privileges and rights under that same unratified pact. Nevertheless, Charles Evans Hughes puts his stamp of approval on it and says a new treaty is legal-proof. And that's enough for most folks hereabout.

Fundamentals of Health.

Health work in the rural schools is one of the most prominent activities being carried on today. The county nurse, Miss Anna Luedtke, is doing extensive work in every school in the county. Teachers are asked the following questions on physiology:

Of what economic value is good health? Give five important ways in which a teacher can help her pupils to have better health.

What are adenoids? How detected? What can a teacher do to help a child who has them? Give five ways in which a teacher can help her pupils to have better health.

Give at least five rights and duties given by law to teachers in regard to the health of pupils.

Give several good reasons for such laws.

What is a capillary? Blobs, stroma, lymph, retina? What is the use of each?

Tell fully what should be done if a person has fainted. Also what should be done if a vein or artery is cut. How can you tell which it is?

Tell fully what changes occur to the blood and the air given off and received, when we breathe pure air.

Give five ways in which clothing often is not hygienic. Give five rules observed in eating.

Name three antiseptics, and tell why used. Tell five things that should be done to help a person inclined to have tuberculosis.

Learning English Language.

Practical questions are asked in the examination in grammar. Here are samples of the questions which teachers must answer:

Give the five-fold aim a teacher should have in helping a child to use the English language correctly.

Give five rules for the formation of the plurals of nouns. Write the plurals of potato, plum, tomato, sole, knife, thief, gas, appendix, focus.

Write a hundred word paragraph on the topic: the secret of success in effective language. Language is abundant material, under the guidance and stimulation of correct ideals.

BOTH RAILROADS HAVE RECORD WEEK

Freight Movement Past Week
Heaviest This Summer—
Other Rail News.

The week ending Saturday has been one of the largest this summer in the movement of freight cars through the Janesville yards. As many as four extra freight trains a day have been sent out on the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. The extra switch engines put on both roads recently have been rushed all requested.

The Racine & Southwestern division of the C. M. & St. P. handled 1,568 cars of livestock last week according to information given out by Div. Superintendent Devilot Beloit.

Declaring that the largest single item of freight expense is perishable freight, orders have been sent out on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul lines to keep refrigerator car doors shut tightly to prevent warm air entering them. This rule applies also to packers' pedigree cars.

Extend Time of Tax.

Extension of time until Oct. 15 for collection against the July 1 reduction in wages has been given local railroad men, according to information procured here Saturday but not confirmed. A shift to silence on the matter of the unions' difficulties with the railroad executives is noted, among them here.

"While it is understood that railroad clerks and maintenance of way men here voted Friday, no confirmation could be procured.

MARCHING LEGION

AID SERVICE MEN. In cooperation with the War Veterans Bureau of the federal government in its plan to send out the "clean up" squads throughout the country to aid ex-service men in recovering compensation for injuries received in the service, all Janesville men who have claims are asked to file their names and addresses with Dr. W. T. Clark, 411 Hayes block, post adjutant of the Richard Ellis Janesville post of the American Legion. This is for the purpose of having a list of names on file of disabled soldiers and thus get better consideration. This plan of lining up the disabled men of the Legion is to be confined to legionnaires. It is stated, but every service man is asked to avail himself of this opportunity and know of others whom they think should receive compensation are requested by the Legion to submit the names of these fellows.

Exact date as to when the "clean up" squad for Wisconsin will visit Janesville has not been set. It is understood here that it will be some time in late September or early October. The schedule as arranged to date follows:

At Fond du Lac, now for Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Winnebago, Calumet and Green Lake counties.

At La Crosse, Aug. 29-Sept. 1 for La Crosse, Monroe, Vernon and Juneau counties.

At Superior, Sept. 6-10 for Douglas, Bayfield, Ashland, Washburn, Sawyer and Burnett counties.

At Wausau, Sept. 12-16 for Marathon, Portage, Wood, Lincoln and Langlade counties.

The plan is for the men in these counties to go in to the city where the "clean up" squad will be stationed. It is not known what city will be designated for Rock and adjoining counties. Transportation is furnished for men to travel to the city where the squad is located.

While the "clean up" squad will not have the power to grant compensation, the medical examiner with the squad will have authority to authorize immediate hospitalization or where a man needs treatment, the medical officer can send him to the hospital without further delay. On all compensation claims, the squad will see that proper forms are executed and sent to Washington so that immediate adjustment of the claim may be had.

Janesville men who have already filed claims which have not been acted upon should be prepared to furnish at least two affidavits substantiating their claims, one from their employer and one from the medical officer who has attended him since being discharged from the service. These affidavits must show that they were disabled a disability due to service.

In regard to the campaign, C. R. Forbes, director of the War Veterans' Board has notified the officials of his department that no claim should be disallowed unless imperative saying that doubts are to be resolved in favor of the ex-service men.

HUGE COUNTY PICNIC.

The tentative program of the picnic for all ex-service men, no matter whether they are members of the American Legion or not, is announced. McColl West, chairman of the Janesville committee, the picnic is being held jointly by the Janesville and Beloit posts with Edgerton, Evansville, Milton Junction and Oxfordville cooperating. It will be held Sunday, Sept. 4, at Yost's park on Rock river.

Free transportation will be provided for all ex-service men. No charge will be made at the park nor for the supper to be served.

The day's activities will commence at 2:30 with races, games, music, and vaudeville. The talent for the entertainment will be provided by the Beloit post.

At 3:30 a pick-up ball game will be played between members of the Janesville and Beloit posts.

The big game feed will be spread upon tables at 5:30. It will be followed by short speeches.

Expectations are that hundreds of ex-service men will attend this fair. It is the first of its kind and is intended to bring the service men of the county closer and aid Beloit in getting ready for the Wisconsin department convention to be held at the Gateway City next spring.

More Care Preferred.

Supplementing the hospital construction program for which $150,000 has been appropriated and plans for the disbursement of which are under way through the treasury department, the new director is given authority to enter into contract with state, municipal or private hospitals for the accommodation at once of those veterans in pressing need of hospital care. Rigid inspection of these hospitals will be under his management.

He will see that the 25,600 war risk patients are cared for in the 800 private and the 30 government hospitals at present available for their use and to the 1,000 average monthly increase of those requiring treatment. The doctors, who in the past have made over a million examinations of applicants for compensation, and the United States public health physicians, who have furnished almost a million and a half treatments on the national home for disabled veterans.

PREPARE FOR MEETING.

An executive meeting of the Janesville Legion post will be held early next week. It is expected that preliminary plans for the coming winter's activities will be started. It will be held at the Grand hotel, the day to be set by Commander Leigh J. Woodworth upon his return from his vacation.

The next regular meeting of the Legion is to be held in the Moose Lodge rooms in the Myers theatre building on Tuesday, Sept. 14. The outlook is for a big year.

CONTEMPLATE DRIVE.

A big membership drive to get more members into the local post of the Legion is being considered. The present membership is about 150. A large number of men are being carried by the post, their dues being paid through the present business situation until such time as the member is able to pay them himself.

When one man learned this he declared that he was proud to belong to an organization that cared so much for its men. He paid his dues as soon as possible and turned around and brought in another member.

PREPARE FOR NATIONAL.

Information reaching here that 15 railroads have already granted a reduction in fare to 1 cent a mile for legionnaires going to the national convention in the Legion's city Oct. 3-5, has aroused more interest and a previous national. While neither the Northwestern nor the St. Paul local ticket offices have received information in regard to lower excursion rates, steps are already being taken to gather a large delegation to attend. Commander Gustav Strandberg of the Legion has informed the Gazette that a large number are coming from the Gate city. He declares that he would like to see the Janesville post get together with Beloit and perhaps hire a special car for the trip.

STRINDBERG THANKFUL.

Upon learning that the Gazette is running a weekly Saturday column in the interest of the American Legion and the ex-service man, Commander Strandberg did not wait to send a letter but telephoned to the Gazette expressing his thanks.

"Your department will be a big help to the American Legion," Legion in Rock county," he said. "You can rest assured that we shall do everything possible to keep you supplied with news."

"SAY IT WITH JORS."

An ex-service man whose usual work is that of a mechanical draughtsman came into Janesville the other day looking for agents to send a certain product. He went directly to the office of Adjutant W. T. Clark and asked for the names of service men out of work.

Commenting upon it, Dr. Clark says:

"I would like to see every business man in Janesville follow the example of that man. The service man sacrificed everything for the business man during the world war and when he is looking for a job because of present business conditions, I believe that he should be given first consideration when there is a vacancy."

NEW NOTE SOUNDED.

An example of the closer cooperation between the Legion posts of Rock county was shown last Sunday when a small delegation of Beloit legionnaires came to Janesville to attend the funeral of S. John Ryan, former "ad" company man, still in action in France. The Beloit post heard of the funeral through reading the account in the newspaper and came up voluntarily.

An End Comes to Triple Headed Care of Soldier.

The end of dual responsibility and divided authority in the government's dealing with former service men is over, says the latest bulletin of the treasury department. All government agencies administering logistics benefit veterans of the World War are consolidated into one organization, under one head, with one organization—the attempt to demonstrate that the United States can care for its dealings with ex-service men & dependents in one head and efficient business.

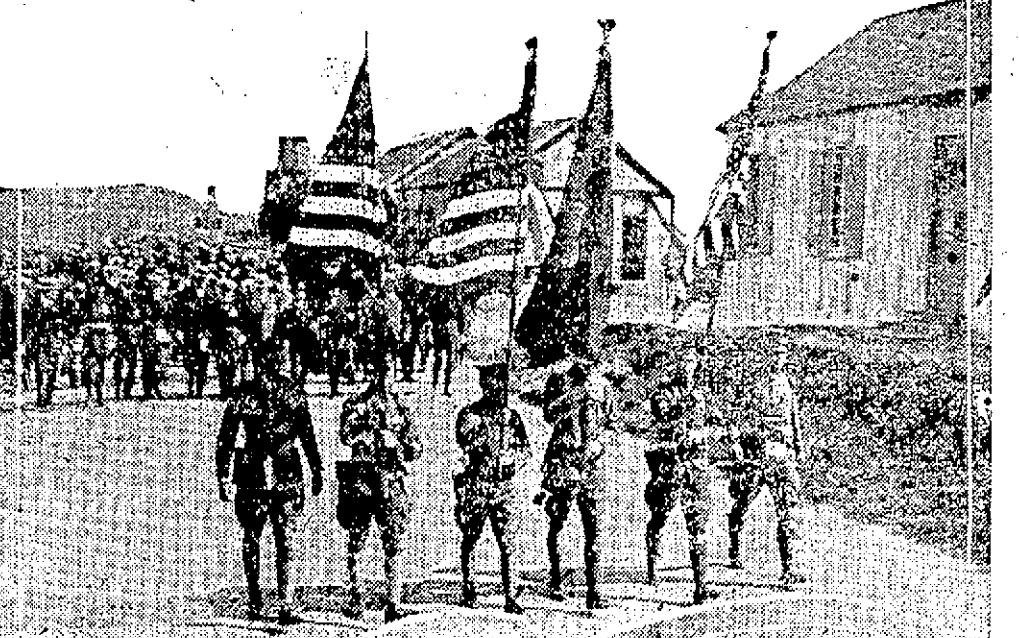

The big note feed will be spread upon tables at 5:30. It will be followed by short speeches.

Expectations are that hundreds of ex-service men will attend this fair. It is the first of its kind and is intended to bring the service men of the county closer and aid Beloit in getting ready for the Wisconsin department convention to be held at the Gateway City next spring.

AMERICAN LEGION OFFICIALS IN FRANCE

Arrival of Legionnaires at Cherbourg and (below) Commander John G. Emery lowering the American flag in salute over the tomb of the "unknown soldier" beneath the Arch of Triumph, Paris.

Headed by National Commander John G. Emery, a group of officials of the American Legion is now in France for the purpose of visiting old battlefields and unveiling several monuments in memory of American boys who died on foreign soil. Everywhere the Americans have been received with enthusiasm. In Paris they visited the grave of the "unknown soldier" whose remains were last year buried with much ceremony beneath the Arch of Triumph.

Volunteer soldiers at Milwaukee, with the construction of a new tuberculosis sanatorium, but this idea has been halted for the time being by action taken by Senator Irv L. Lenroot from Wisconsin. A storm of protest has arisen against removing the Civil War veterans. As a result, Janesville has again advanced its offer of a site for the Great Lakes district hospital to be built here.

In the utilization of soldiers' homes the treasury department makes this provision against future emergency war needs. This is based on their opinion that within five or 10 years after the Civil War the housing of veterans became a serious problem and anticipated a similar situation a decade hence, it was decided to expand these permanent homes as the "best sort of economy."

Under the reorganization, the field activities of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance and the U. S. Public Health Service and the federal board for vocational education have been consolidated.

How to Get Aid

Under the provisions of the act which created the new Veterans' bureau, a system of regional administration will be put in force with 14 regional offices which will have independence of action and ample authority to act in behalf of veterans with reference to the central office at Washington, except as a court of appeal. The disabled soldier applying for medical treatment goes to the regional office or to a sub-office. Each regional office will cover a district of from two to four states, and there are to be 140 sub-offices, one of which is to be reasonably near the soldier's home.

The soldier will be examined by the medical authority on the spot, and should he be found a fit subject for hospital treatment, he will be sent to the nearest hospital at once. Through the same office at the same time action will be taken to obtain compensation for the plan called for the utilization of the national home for disabled veterans.

Mandell Shades Moore-Net Entries Are Being Made

SAM'S HEADWORK FOOLS EXPERIENCED PAL BEFORE 5,000

GAZETTE DECISIONS.

Sammy Mandell, Rockford, shaded Pal Moore, Memphis, 100; Johnny Dundee, Black Island, and Frankie Schneider, Chicago, battled to draw (10); Frankie Kelly, Chicago, shaded Babe Astor, A. E. F., 100; and Spider Jack, White Mountain, Hockeemery, 100, all at Aurora.

By FRANK SINGLAIR.

It was a draw; Pal Moore got on points—these were the decisions handed down in Aurora's greatest fight show Friday night when Sammy Mandell, the lightning rod from Rockford and Pal Moore, former champ of Memphis, clashed in a whirlwind of a great 36-round card. No matter what others say, "Smiling" Sammy displayed a masterful ring generalship and fighting throughout.

Stepping into the dim glow of a weak lighting system, Moore poked a concealed mug of snuff satisfaction at the Rockford lad trying to make a chump of Sammy only to step right into a stiff punch to the body. There was considerable stepping during the battle with Sammons on the upper crust although the points scored were few and far between.

Sammy Used Head.

Before a crowd of 5,000 that jammed the arena—special car loads of them from Rockford and Chicago—Sammy won round after round. He meted it all the way and poked his masterful headwork against Moore's longer experience.

In the last four rounds, the Rockford flash let loose like a freed dynamo, keeping Pal to the ropes. In the tenth, Mandell rocked Moore with a left hook to the jaw. Jannering his head far back, he followed through with rights and lefts and made a clean out of the Memphis idol.

There was not a time during the session that Moore had the crowd with him unless it were at the introduction. The climax of his disfavor came in the eighth when he received a hissing from the mob for failure to meet their calls for more fight.

Great Dundee-Schaefer Go.

The semi-windup was the quietest fight ever staged in the middle west. After drawing in the opening two rounds and taking a shade in the third and fourth, Dundee let loose. He felled Schaefer in the fifth and in the sixth spilled him unmercifully for the nine count and then for a four. Schaefer ended the round hanging by his opponent. In the next four rounds Schaefer came back like a fresh man and knocked Dundee all over the ring. It might have been a shade for Dundee.

In a pretty 10-round scrap, Frankie Kelly of Chicago got the slightest shade over Babe Astor. Kelly got four of the rounds and three were draws.

McMillan With 'Praying Colonels' for Another Year

Danville, Ky.—With P. N. Armstrong as the interim captain and Colonel "Bo" McMillan back to direct his duties during the heat of the games from the quarterback position, Centre college this year expects to have another great football team. Twelve of the members of the squad last year kept up the three-year record of the team will return, while at least 13 men who have had football experience in preparatory schools and of whom great things are expected, have signed their intention of attending college.

There has been much talk as to whether or not "Bo" McMillan, star of the "Praying Colonels" squad would return. "Bo" was married last fall as well as being made a colonel on the staff of Governor Morrow and this spring received some tempting offers, among them one to play with an Ohio professional football team. Recently, however, President W. A. Garfield states that McMillan would return and his name headed a list of prospective players for the 1921 season given out by Arthur C. Steele, L. N. Myers.

The Top Tip Can for Wadham's Oil

Devised for Your

Convenience in Oil Handling

Five gallons is undoubtedly the quantity that most car owners would like to keep on hand at the home garage—but old fashioned five gallon cans were heavy and awkward. When anywhere near full, it was almost impossible to get a firm, convenient hold on them.

They dirtied the clothes and shot their intermittent stream of oil almost anywhere but into the filling measure.

Contrast with this the simple convenience of the new Wadham's Top Tip container. Not a particle is spilled or wasted. Not a spot gets on the clothing, hands or floor.

Needless to say you can get the Top Tip can with no other oil. It is exclusively Wadham's.

Lake Geneva—“Fore,” W. F. Chatfield Taylor of Chicago, playing the thirteenth hole at the Lake Geneva Country club, yelled his warning loud enough but E. E. Ford did not hear.

Taylor drove with his mashie for a distance of 125 yards to the green. Ford was seen to suddenly straighten up as though shot.

The ball had “held” in the hip pocket of his loose golf trousers. No. Nothing was broken.
